ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system comprising a portable health assistant, a computer server remotely accessible by the portable health assistant, and a Web browser through which a clinician can communicate with the computer server and thereby review information collected by the portable health assistant and modify a patient's treatment regimen. The portable health assistant is preferably a handheld device with a display screen and a touch screen interface through which a patient can input information. Through multimedia software content, the portable health assistant provides such features as reminding the patient when to perform tasks in their prescribed treatment
